

The Kitesurfing Equipment that you should bring to your KITEKAHUNAS Wave Camp, Downwind Camp Freeride / Freestyle or your Advanced Kitesurfing Course

We at Kitekahunas want you to benefit as much as possible from your KITEKAHUNAS Wave Camp, Downwind Camp, advanced lessons or your beginners kitesurfing crash course and to learn as much as possible here! A key prerequisite for this is the right equipment for the wind conditions in Cape Town. The kitesurfing spots around Cape Town are famous for their often solid wind - this is why so many kitesurfers come here during our season (October till March each year). We fly rather smaller kites. Please bring for your course:

Your body weight	Light Wind Kite	Standard Kite	Strong Wind Kite
80-90 kg	11-13 m	8-9 m	6-7 m
70-80 kg	10-12 m	7-8 m	5-7 m
60-70 kg	9-11 m	6-7 m	5-6 m
50-60 kg	8-10 m	5-7 m	4,5-6 m

If you need to purchase kites: We have recently gone through a major effort to survey and test the market for kites, to find out, which are the best kites to purchase. For this we have interviewed many experienced and professional kitesurfers, what they would buy today and for what reasons. Their primary reasons were: Product quality and durability, access to spare parts anywhere when they travel, re-sale value, and flying characteristics (performance, de-power, re-launch, safety). The kite that won the survey by far - and what we recommend and sell to our customers - is the Slingshot RPM, designed in the USA. No surprise, it is also the most sold kite throughout the world in the last years, and these kitesurfers are extremely loyal to this kite. With its huge de-power you can fly the RPM as a beginner and with its great performance as an open-C-shaped kite also as a professional athlete in freestyle and for wave kitesurfing. The RPM has won 5 world champion titles, e.g. Youri Zoon became 2X world-champion on the RPM and the current world titles female and male are held by the RPM! The kite is simply best in class. The kite has an enormous wind range, so that you may even get away with only 2 kites, instead of 3 kites.

For your wetsuit, you will require a full wetsuit, at least 4/3 mm neoprene or 5/3 mm. Possibly you want neoprene underwear to keep you warm. No shoes or gloves or the like are required.

If you don't have this equipment, you can order it through us and purchase it on your arrival in South Africa (please do a reservation beforehand to avoid disappointment). Prices are much lower here and you get 14% VAT back. And on top, we have further discounts for our students!

YOU SAVE ABOUT 24-35%

Enjoy your stay with us and your kitesurfing course or KITEKAHUNAS WAVE CAMP!
